CONCORD, N. H.

Inaugural Address
MAYOR FRANK B. PRESTON

JANUARY 7, 1914

Gentlemen of the City Council:

We have gathered here today as the chosen representatives of the people of our fair city for the ensuing year. May we conduct the affairs of this municipality so that we shall merit the honor that has been conferred upon us by our fellow citizens. At this time it is well for us to review some of the things that have been accomplished during the year just coming to a close.

The rate of taxation was lower than it has been for several years, although the expenses have been kept within the appropriation.

Our schools have increased in number, and the standard of education has been raised.

Our city has been kept practically free from contagious diseases, with a meagre appropriation.

We have installed an independent fire alarm gong, and have been fortunate in extinguishing our fires.

There has been more permanent work done on the highways and more sidewalks built than has ever been before in any one year.

The water has been kept in good condition and the supply unlimited for household purposes.

The police have kept our streets quiet and peaceful and our city free from turmoil and strife.

Our streets have been well lighted and with less expense than before.

There have been 450 shade trees set out and four beautiful parks laid out.

Our public library has been well patronized and its efficiency has increased.

Through the efforts of our solicitor several law suits against the city have been adjusted satisfactorily to both parties.

Gentlemen, these are a few, and a few only, of the things that have been accomplished during the year, and, judging by these actualities, you are entitled to, and should have the approbation of our fellow citizens.

FINANCE

Great care should be exercised in making the appropriation for the ensuing year. The expenses are constantly increasing, and we should strive to keep the tax rate as low as possible, and pay the current expenses.

SCHOOLS

The schooling of the children of the city is one of the most important matters of any with which the municipality has to deal.

During the year 1913, the schools of the city have been larger than ever before, and in consequence more money has been expended for them than in any previous year.

The appropriation for schools for the year just closed was $31,500; this amount has been increased by the Literary Fund received from the state, the dog license, tuitions, and some other minor items of income to $33,900.61, about all of which has been expended for the schools during the year.

This certainly appears like a large sum, yet it is not quite one third of the taxes of this city, while in many places one half of the income is devoted to educational purposes. The cost of schooling the children per pupil during the year, based upon the average daily membership, figures out $26.66. This is $0.23 less per pupil this year than was the cost per pupil last year. So that while school expenses have as a whole been increasing, the cost per pupil per year has been about the same. This is due, of course, to the increase in the number of pupils.

The average cost of educating school children in the grades throughout the United States is given as about $30 per pupil per year, and in the high schools as about $75. From these figures, it is found that Rochester is educating her children at a price considerably under the average for the entire country.

The reasons for the increase in the number of pupils seems to be the desire of more pupils for a high school education and the recent legislation concerning child labor.

We believe the schools of our city to be of a quality that compares favorably with the other schools of the state. This belief is based upon the work of our pupils in the colleges, where they have gone for further education, and on those who have gone into the offices, stores, and business life of the city.

HEALTH

We have been very fortunate in the past in carrying on this department with so small an appropriation. How to dispose of the refuse of the city is a question yet unsolved. If nothing better presents itself, I would suggest that we have a "clean-up week" the first of May, and that a city team be placed at the disposal of the Health Department for that purpose.

Considerable complaint has been made by the Street Department because so much rubbish is dumped beside the street. This practice should be stopped at once, and should receive the immediate attention and the watchful care of the proper authorities. It might be well to build a plant for the disposal of waste and rubbish by incineration.

FIRE DEPARTMENT

Our firemen have done good work considering the disadvantage under which they labor.

I would recommend one man to be added to the Bickford Chemical Company, and that the pay of the firemen in this village be $50 each per year; that the chief engineer receive $250 annually, and that the first and second assistants each receive $100 per year, all payable semi-annually.

I also recommend that the fire warden receive $0.40 per hour, the deputies, $0.35 per hour, and fire fighters, $0.25 per hour.

It is generally conceded that we should have better fire protection.

The purchase of a steamer and the enlargement of the water pipes are subjects worthy of our careful consideration.

HIGHWAYS

It would seem wise for the city to make a special appropriation this year for the continuance of the permanent road work that has just begun. A road, said by experts to be one of the finest pieces of macadam road in the state, has been built this year under the supervision of the Street Department from the railroad crossing on South Main Street to connect with the state road.

We would recommend that this road be continued from the Boston and Maine tracks to the City Hotel. We would also recommend a like road to be constructed from Union Street to the stone bridge.

Liberty Street, Portland Street from Main Street to the railroad tracks, and Bridge Street—these thoroughfares, all in the heart of the city, should be resurfaced with native rock and oil bound.

The Meaderboro Road is the main artery of travel for many of the farmers of Strafford and vicinity, and is used much for teaming and subject to very hard use. We would recommend that this road be shaped and surfaced, and that at least a half mile of it, beginning at the top of Horse Hill, so called, and extending toward the city, be macadamized with native rock and oil bound.

Eastern Avenue should be resurfaced with native rock and oil bound.

This amount of permanent road work, together with the regular work of the Street Department on all the other highways of the city, would make a splendid showing. It would seem that the good work that has been started the past year should be continued.

We would recommend that the work be done on the Whitehall Swamp Road as soon as possible, in accordance with the petition presented by the citizens of that locality.

It would be well to investigate the feasibility of putting a surface coating of concrete on Bridge Street bridge to preserve the planking.

We would recommend some system of regular road patrol, especially on the macadam roads.

SIDEWALKS

Great progress has been made in the Sidewalk Department the past year. It is exceedingly gratifying to see so many new permanent granolithic sidewalks constructed, and the stand taken by our citizens in paying one-half the construction price of these walks adjoining their premises shows a most commendable spirit of civic pride on the part of our people.

We would recommend that the city purchase a cement mixer that still more of this permanent walk may be constructed during the next season, and at a still less cost.

SURFACE SEWERS

Many calls have been made for surface sewers during the year just past, and, as some of the streets are badly in need of repair, it would seem wise to put in permanent sewers before the streets are repaired.

Therefore, I would recommend that a sum of not less than three thousand dollars be appropriated especially for surface sewers.

WATER WORKS AND SEWERS

Our system of water works is a striking example of the value of municipal ownership of public utilities when properly managed.

In order that the quality of our water for household purposes may be improved, it may be found wise to change the outlet of the reservoir, so that a free circulation of water may be maintained instead of stagnation.

The progress of metering all water services is now well under way, and it is found that much water is conserved in consequence thereof.

A survey of the drainage area which supplies the Berry and Ax-handle brooks has demonstrated that when a larger volume of our water supply becomes necessary, it may be secured by the erection of a dam near the gatehouse, at the intersection of the two brooks heretofore named, at an approximate cost of eight thousand dollars.

Public health and justice demand that all occupied or habitable buildings, within one hundred feet of the public sewer, should be connected therewith; when this is done a considerable amount of money will have been added to the city treasury.

The petition for a deep sewer on Union Street, in the village of East Rochester, should be granted. A special appropriation may be deemed advisable for deep sewer construction.

We recommend that the deep sewer on the easterly side of Lafayette Street be connected with the main sewer, according to the recommendations of the State Board of Health.

POLICE

It is quite complimentary to our citizens that we maintain so small a police force. Our people are peaceful and law abiding and do not need a large body of police parading up and down our streets to restrain them.

In this enlightened age of ours, brute force must be superceded by the enlightenment, education and reformation of the people. The city least governed by force is the best governed.

You may place a policeman upon every corner of every street within our city, and then the laws will be daily violated, but instill into the minds of the people that the enforcement of the law is for the greatest good of the greatest number, then crime will be reduced and the violation of the law less frequent.

We have not yet reached the era where police protection is unnecessary, but I believe in the strict enforcement of the laws, and urge upon all officers to do this to the best of their ability.

MUNICIPAL LIGHTING

An investigation has been made regarding municipal ownership of our lighting system, but it seems we are not ready to engage in that enterprise at present, but you may deem it advisable for future reference to complete the work at a small expense, that has already been begun. The investigation has not been in vain, for it has been demonstrated that a great waterpower lies at our very door awaiting development.

I would recommend that a contract be made for our lights for the coming year, if not for a longer period of time, for uncertainty and doubt is a menace to any enterprise.

SHADE TREES, PARKS AND COMMONS

Our city has showed marked progress in this department during the past year, and, if the work so well begun can be continued in the year to come, Rochester will become a most beautiful city. The policy of the city of co-operating with individuals who are working for the beautification of different sections, with public parks, seems to be a wise one. Through the efforts of Mrs. L. P. Snow, a plot of ground has been set apart for a park at Strafford Square, and an enduring watering trough, cut from a solid block of granite, has been placed there and connected with the city water system.

East Rochester has set the curbing for a splendid new park to be known as Richards Park, made possible by the gift of $500 left by Mrs. Charles Richards for this purpose.

Through the efforts of Levi Meader and others, of Gonic, the land in front of the cemetery, where one of the town schoolhouses was formerly located, has been set apart for another public park.

This plot of land lying, as it does, on the line of the electric car track will add much to the attractiveness of the city when it is beautified with green grass and flowers, and the fountain which will be placed thereon. Another splendid park has been surveyed on River Street, and will be called Duval Park, in honor of the late Dr. Ernest Duval, and Mrs. Duval has agreed to furnish, free of expense to the city, all the granite curbing to be used around it. The people of this section of the city, with commendable and characteristic enterprise, have agreed to raise a sum of money sufficient to beautify the place, and contemplate the erection of a fountain there.

These four new parks, all added to the city in one year, are a record for one year's work in civic improvement in its Park Department.

In the years to come generations yet unborn will be thankful for the work done the past year by the Committee on Shade Trees, Parks and Commons, and by other public-spirited citizens who have worked for the city's advancement along this line. Thanks are due the superintendent of streets, George D. Dame, and the Committee on Roads, Bridges, and Drains, for their valuable assistance and co-operation.

PUBLIC LIBRARY

One of the city's valuable assets is its public library, a magnificent structure to look upon, and as an educational feature it is of great benefit to our schools as well as to the public.

It contains over 16,000 books, and they are extensively circulated. The appreciation of the public for this institution is shown not only by the ever-increasing attendance at its reading rooms, but by the generous gifts of books and money by private individuals.

The librarian and her assistants are to be highly complimented for their strenuous and successful work during the past year, and I am sure that with a liberal appropriation that the work of the ensuing year will be more efficient than ever before.

STREET SPRINKLING

The wisdom of establishing a sprinkling precinct, after a trial of three years, whereby our streets in the most compact part of the city are sprinkled, under the management of the city instead of by individual enterprise, has been demonstrated beyond question. Requests that additional territory be included within the precinct, and the general commendation of our citizens within such prescribed territory as to the excellent manner in which such service has been rendered, must be gratifying to those who have had the matter in charge. If it is desired further to extend the precinct, it should be known to the City Council before the annual appropriation is made.

CONCLUSION

In this age of ours, in which the greatest strides of progress and the most appalling lapses into extravagance have simultaneously occurred, let our watchwords be "Progress and Economy," and may our appropriations for the coming year be made after careful deliberations. I thank the citizens of this city, irrespective of party, who have conferred upon me for the second time the greatest honor within their power. I shall endeavor, in the discharge of my duties, to be governed by what I believe to be right and to give everyone a square deal.

REPORT OF

Superintendent of Water Department

FOR THE YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 1913

To the Committee on Water Works:

GENTLEMEN:—The twenty-second annual report of the Water Department is herewith submitted.

Source of supply during the year: January 1 to July 6, Reservoir; July 6 to November 5, Round Pond; November 5 to December 31, Reservoir.

Our water supply has given general satisfaction throughout the past year; but few complaints were received from services on dead ends. As soon as possible these lines were flushed and the cause for complaint immediately disappeared.

In addition to general work, over the system, the stand-pipe at Adams Corner has been painted inside and out; the washout on the grounds of the Rochester A. and M. Association has been repaired by the construction of a concrete retaining wall, earth fill and proper surface drainage.

All hydrants have been flushed and repaired and are in good working order; regular inspection is carried on during cold weather.

On February 4, 1913, the City Council passed the following vote: That the Committee on Water Works be authorized to install water meters to be attached to all services not already metered, commencing with services as numerically listed, beginning with Service No. 1 and continuing until all services are metered; but nothing herein contained shall compel the installation of more than one hundred meters per year, except such additional number per year as water takers may voluntarily ask to have installed, so far as the work may be done without inconvenience to the department.

The above order has been complied with, and sixty-nine meters have been installed at the request of water takers.

Forty-two per cent of all services are metered and general satisfaction results when proper attention is given to fixtures. Neglect in repairing leaky fixtures is responsible for nearly all abnormal water bills, and as water takers on metered services must pay for all water passing through meter, whether used or wasted, through leakage or otherwise, it is important to the consumer that a reasonable amount of attention be given to condition of fixtures.

The following table gives size, make and number of meters in use in city:

Make	$\frac{3}{8}$ -in.	$\frac{1}{2}$ -in.	1-in.	1 $\frac{1}{2}$ -in.	2-in.	3-in.	4-in.	6-in.

To the Committee and to the Mayor and Honorable Council, I wish to extend my sincere thanks for the assistance and support accorded me during the past year.

Respectfully submitted,

FRED W. CROCKER,
Superintendent of Water Works.

REPORT OF Superintendent of Sewers

FOR THE YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 1913

To the Committee on Sewers:

GENTLEMEN:—The annual report of the Superintendent of Sewers is herewith submitted:

Number of permits issued to do plumbing,	35
Connections put in during the year,	40
Discontinued,	2
Connections to date,	1,134

Number of feet of main pipe laid during the year:

	6-inch	8-inch	10-inch
Grove Street, E. R.,			415 feet
Pleasant Street, E. R.,	214 feet, 6 in.
Morton Avenue,	282 feet, 6 in.
South Main Street,		324 feet
Pearl Street,	125 feet
Manholes constructed,			3
Manholes raised to grade,			11

I have been called to clear thirty sewer connections. In nearly all cases the troubles is caused by the entrance of fibrous roots through the joints of the pipe.

The mains on Congress, Leonard, Logan and Union Streets have stopped and been cleared during the year.

The entire system has been flushed in the spring and fall and is in good working condition.

An inventory of material and tools in this department January 1, 1914, is on file in the city clerk's office.

Respectfully submitted,

FRED W. CROCKER,
Superintendent of Sewers.

REPORT OF

Chief Engineer of Fire Department

FOR THE YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 1913

To the Honorable Mayor and Members of the City Council:

GENTLEMEN:—There have been 15 regular alarms, 57 still alarms (most of which were for chimney fires), 29 brush and forest fires; 2 bell alarms and 2 brush fires at Gonic; 2 brush fires and 2 chimney fires at East Rochester—making a total of 109 alarms for the year.

Amount of property involved, exclusive of brush and forest fires, is as follows:

Value of buildings,	$41,392.00
Insurance on same,	32,350.00
Losses paid,	29,974.00
Value of contents, including lumber at W. H. Champlin's,	101,672.49
Insurance on same,	59,900.00
Losses paid,	49,946.22

I would recommend that there be purchased an Eastman Deluge Set complete with stand; also 600 feet of 2½-inch rubber-lined double jacket hose.

I believe that it would be for the best interest of the city to pay a little more for hose and get a better quality than we have had for several years past.

I recommended last year the purchase of a motor-propelled wagon for the purpose of going to brush and chimney fires, the same to be used as a hose wagon. I still believe that such a wagon is needed by the city. It would save the expense of team hire and we could get to the fires in much less time than by teams.

There has been purchased and installed a LeBaron compressed air fire alarm system which has given perfect satisfaction thus far. The only fault we have to find is with the whistle, which we do not think is heavy enough. I would recommend that it be exchanged for a 10-inch bull whistle (so called).

There has also been purchased for the department during the year, 1 30-foot wall ladder, 4 Underwriters' 3-gallon extinguishers, 4 3-gallon extinguishers for brush fires, 1 hose wagon, 800 feet $2\frac{1}{2}$ -inch double jacket hose, 3 coats, 24 feet chemical hose.

There has been installed 1 new fire alarm box numbered 24, situated on Pine Street, near Brattle.

INVENTORY OF PROPERTY

3 hose wagons,
3 hose reels,
1 hook and ladder truck,
1 combination chemical hook and ladder truck and set of runners for same,
3 sets of sleds for hose companies,
Coats and hats for the companies,
5,450 feet good hose, 550 feet poor,
5 hydrant gates,
10 play pipes,
12 3-gallon extinguishers,
1 hand engine,
580 feet ladders,
2 dozen shovels,

2 hoes,
 2 sets quick-hitch harnesses,
 4 horse blankets,
 1 deluge set,
 18 covers automatic respirators not in very good condition.

In conclusion I would take this method to thank the Mayor and Members of the City Council for what they have done for the Fire Department during the year just ended, and hope the year which we have just entered upon will see the department equipped with some up-to-the-minute apparatus.

I also wish to thank each and every member of the department for their hearty co-operation and support during the year.

Respectfully submitted,

C. E. RANDALL,

Chief Engineer, Fire Department.

In reviewing the year 1913, a few things have been accomplished that give some satisfaction. At the beginning of the year we ordered all signs and other obstructions removed from the sidewalks; we also required all awnings to be adjusted in height to comply with the city ordinance. There are many other matters which have been accomplished with very little friction from the public. I would again recommend that the city ordinance, requiring all restaurants, billiard and pool rooms and fruit stores be closed at 10 p. m., should be amended, requiring them to close at 11 p. m.

During the Rochester Fair, in September, good order was maintained on our streets. Several cases of larceny from the person were reported to the police and we wish to commend the management of the Rochester Fair Association for aiding the police in arresting gamblers on the Fair grounds.

Many arrests have been made for drunkenness and we find that most of them are non-residents, who claim they get their drink in adjoining cities. There is a large floating population who remain in our city but a few weeks, and we find that most of the arrests are from this class. With the additions made to our shoe shops and lumber mills, the public should receive better protection, and one man by day for the whole city is not sufficient. East Rochester is practically a village by itself and should receive better protection. I trust that some consideration will be given to these matters by the Honorable Council.

In conclusion I wish to thank the City Solicitor and the Judge and Clerk of the Police Court for advice and assistance rendered in the discharge of my duties as City Marshal, also the Assistant Marshal and Night Watch for faithful and efficient service in the discharge of duty.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN YOUNG,
City Marshal.

An inventory of the Sidewalk Department property is placed on file in the city clerk's office.

I would recommend the purchase of a power concrete mixer. I am fully convinced, with the assistance of a good machine, the cost of building concrete walks would be greatly reduced.

Respectfully submitted,
 GEORGE D. DAME,
Street Commissioner.

REPORT OF Manager of Opera House

To the Committee on Public Buildings of the Rochester City Council:

GENTLEMEN:—As manager of the Opera House since March 4, 1913, I submit the following report. A summary of the receipts and expenditures will be found in another place in this report.

At the solicitation of some of the members of the council, I accepted the above-mentioned position, chiefly on account of my location in the clerk's office, it being suggested to me that the house could be handled better from this office than elsewhere.

I commenced the task, in the first place, to better acquaint myself with the show business and the people who handle first class productions, and also found myself answering many questions. To facilitate my labors and also give the House advertising in a systematic way I had printed five hundred Information Sheets, a copy of which I present herewith. These have been of inestimable value to me in getting in touch with companies and booking houses.

I have found it to be of some disadvantage that previous sources of advertising and transportation were denied the House, compelling me to construct municipal bill boards and to provide means of handling the scenery and baggage. However, I trust these can both be handled by the House on an independent basis.

As the theatrical business in general in this section has been somewhat quiet, owing to the popularity of moving pictures, it is not surprising that the year 1913 has not shown so many openings as 1912. I have worked unceasingly to give this house a good standing with the general public and with the best booking houses, and the outlook for 1914 is promising.

The expenditures have been many and varied, but they have been found necessary to put the House on a better standing.

I have a good corps of assistants and I am anxious to make their labors more easily performed, and would suggest a larger door, with either an elevator or an inclined plane for handling baggage and scenery.

In conclusion I will say that the former manager turned over to me $844. This, with the net earnings of this year, has provided $1,250.32 to be transferred to other departments.

Respectfully submitted,

F. E. HUSSEY,
Manager.

Report of Tree Warden

JANUARY 1, 1914

To the Honorable Mayor and Council of the City of Rochester:

GENTLEMEN:—There has been considerable activity in this department the past year. Four hundred and fifty trees, purchased by the Committee on Shade Trees, have been distributed among property owners who would plant and take care of them.

Many dead trees have been removed without cost, being cut down for the wood there was in them.

The city trees were sprayed twice this year for elm beetle and brown-tail moth, which was very effective, the elm beetle doing little harm to shade trees.

The gypsy moth has made a big gain this year and can be found in all parts of the city. In some orchards there are thousands of egg masses and if not attended to will cause much trouble and expense. Spraying in early spring for brown-tail moth is not successful as the caterpillar comes out before the leaves start and eats them as fast as they grow. Spraying the first of August and cutting stray nests in winter is the best method for controlling them.

Respectfully submitted,

C. E. GOODWIN,
Tree Warden.

Report of City Solicitor

To the Honorable Mayor and City Council of the City of Rochester:

On assuming the duties of solicitor of your city I found upon the Superior Court Docket for this county, a bill in equity brought by the city in January, 1907, against I. Dana Hodgdon, James McClelland, James Elliott, Christina Elliott, Rochester Agricultural and Mechanical Association, Seorim Swain, Mary E. Dyer, Mary T. Seccomb and Sarah H. Newell, for the layout of water-pipe line already constructed across their lands, and for assessment of damages.

Deeds having been obtained from I. Dana Hodgdon, James McClelland, James Elliott, Christina Elliott, Rochester Agricultural and Mechanical Association, and Mary E. Dyer, the action as against each of them was dismissed without costs.

The matter with the Rochester Agricultural and Mechanical Association was complicated by the unfortunate breaking of the water main, causing a washout and creating a situation requiring the exercise of skill and judgment, open and frank methods, which were freely and equitably met by the officers of the Rochester Agricultural and Mechanical Association, and after many conferences by the committee with the officers of the association, not only was the right of way one rod in width given to the city, the damages for the same settled, but the sum of two hundred dollars was paid by the association toward the permanent repair of the break in this pipe line, and all matters arising out of this situation were settled to the satisfaction and benefit of both parties and deeds and agreements were passed giving effect thereto.

The claim of Seorim Swain was for damages for the taking of the right of way for said pipe line over his tract of land and matters incident thereto as follows: taking a large quantity of soil to build a coffer dam across the Cochecho River; for the closing of an open drain causing the water to flow back upon the land of said Swain, for turning ditch water, which flowed into the river from the Parker lot, on to his land; for labor in replacing bridge taken up by the employees of said city; for injuries and damages caused by circular brick wall built for the protection of said pipe line, throwing the water out of its channel into a new one; for leaving down fences and loss of pasturage of cows, and for taking other portions of soil from his land to repair washout; and after several conferences by the committee with Mr. Swain and his counsel he agreed to accept, and the committee agreed to pay, the sum of one hundred thirty dollars in full satisfaction of the damages for taking of his land, for the use of the same to the present time, and for all of the above items, and for interests and costs of the suit. The committee agreed to pay, and have paid, the same. An agreement in writing has been filed in court granting this right of way of one rod in width, with the right to enter through a pass-way from Sheridan Avenue to said pipe line, and judgment has been entered upon this layout by said court, the same has been recorded in the register of deeds office for this county, and a copy thereof has been filed with the city clerk.

The claim of Mary T. Seccomb and Sarah H. Newell was for damages for taking a right of way for this water pipe line; for a large washout and gully in their land caused by the flow of water from broken main pipe; for a large lot of gravel and loam used for the temporary repair of the washout under the pipe line, costs, interest, etc., and after several conferences by the committee with Mr. Snow, their attorney, it was agreed to pay, and have paid, the sum of two hundred sixty-nine dollars in full of all these claims and for the damages for said right of way, and an agreement that a right of way between seven and eight hundred feet in length and one rod in width be had by the city along the line as now laid, was drawn and filed in the court where this action is now pending; judgment of the court confirming the same has been entered; the same has been recorded in the register of deeds office for this county, and a copy thereof has been filed in the city clerk's office.

There was also pending upon the Superior Court Docket a petition by Louis H. McDuffee against the City of Rochester, filed November 8, 1912, for assessment of damages in the straightening and widening of North Main Street, by the city councils in October, 1912, and after several conferences by the committee with Mr. McDuffee and his counsel and the examination of the property and an estimate of the decrease of the rental value and income thereof the committee agreed to pay, and Mr. McDuffee agreed to accept, the sum of three hundred dollars in full payment and satisfaction of all damages against the city by reason of the aforesaid layout and in full payment of all interests and costs of said suit, and said sum has been paid to Mr. McDuffee and his receipt taken by the city, and judgment has been entered in said action for said sum and marked "judgment satisfied."

These sums of money having been raised by the present council are contributions to pay the debts of past administrations.

There is also one other action now pending in the Superior Court for said county which is a petition by Mary T. Seccomb, Alice Newhall and Harry H. Newell, filed November 21, 1912, for assessment of damages occasioned by the straightening and widening of North Main Street by the city council in October, 1912, upon which several conferences with Mr. Snow, attorney for the plaintiffs, have been had; but at this writing no agreement upon the amount of actual damage occasioned has been reached and the case is yet pending in court marked "referred to the county commissioners."

There have been no actions begun against the city since I assumed the office as your solicitor, and, while there have been several matters of a complicated nature in which litigation was imminent, yet the committees by the exercise of tact, discretion and good judgment made satisfactory adjustments and have saved the city from the embarrassment and costs of legal proceedings.

Respectfully submitted,

ELMER J. SMART.

Report of Library Trustees

To the Honorable Council of the City of Rochester:

GENTLEMEN:—I have the honor to present the twentieth annual report of the trustees of the Rochester Public Library, also the librarian's and treasurer's report for the year ending December 31, 1913.

It is a pleasure for the trustees to report to the city council and to the citizens of Rochester the interest manifested by the people of our city in the Public Library, as shown by the increased circulation and also by the large attendance in the reading rooms. We are pleased to notice the interest taken by the scholars of our public schools in the reference library, which in connection with their studies requires the purchase of many books needed by them in their school work. The purchase of these books, used by them in required reading, adds to the expense of the library. The library is very glad to do this but should receive a proper recognition of it, as money and time used in that way is taken from some other branch of the work.

During the year repairs have been made on the roof of the building and we are informed that the slate of the roof is of such poor quality that it ought to be reslated to protect the building. The floors of the library should be redressed; new shelves should be added to the juvenile department. All this takes money, and in order to maintain the library and meet the demands of the patrons we request the Honorable Council to make the appropriation, for 1914, four thousand dollars.

For further information as to the efficient work of the library we would refer you to the report of the librarian.

The trustees wish to express their appreciation of the work done by the librarian and her assistants during the year.

For the trustees,

JOHN YOUNG,
Secretary.

Report of Librarian

To the Board of Trustees of the Rochester Public Library:

GENTLEMEN:—I herewith present the twentieth annual report of the Rochester Public Library, for the year 1913.

As the setting of a jewel not only enhances its beauty but insures its safety and makes it useful, so the library building, provided by a stranger's generosity, not only protects and displays the contents entrusted to it, but adds to its usefulness; therefore, it is necessary for it to receive a large share of attention daily and a fair proportion of the annual income, in order to keep it up to the original standard of excellence. That the caretaker has given it the required attention is proved by the praise received for the neatness of the building. Much regret is expressed, however, at the condition of the floors, as the ceaseless tramp of many feet each day has worn them badly.

This library of ours was not established merely for the collecting of books but for use, a key to vast storehouses of recreation and knowledge. In the buying of books, that most excellent advice to "hasten slowly" has never been needed, for as its book income has always been small, there has been two uses for every dollar, and an extra balance to put into books at the end of the year has ever been a cause of much rejoicing. This year there has been no balance; the coal bill has absorbed it all. Only 248 books have been purchased from the annual appropriation and 90 from the interest on the Jennie Farrington fund; 114 volumes have been given the library and 70 volumes added by the binding of magazines, making the additions for the year, 522. Four books have been lost or injured beyond repair, 3 burned because of exposure to contagious disease and 2 lost at Gonic, making a loss of 9 for the year. The total number of books in the library at the close of 1913 is 16,466.

It has been estimated "that out of every hundred children entering first grade, thirty-four finish the eighth grade, fourteen enter high school, six graduate from high school, two enter college and one graduates from college." But what of the ninety and nine? "The answer is, the public library." The Rochester Public Library offers to this ninety-nine out of every hundred and even to the whole hundred, each of the 16,466 books in its possession, with catalogues, indexes and guides, as well as lists of the popular books and "best reading" that each may be able to find that which he seeks. During the year, 56,114 books have been given out for home use and 12,238 readers reported, coming either for reading or study. This shows an increase in circulation over last year of 3,914 and in readers of 2,355.

"Today everyone must read if he would succeed," says one. Another says, "The schools do nothing for the adult citizen and to the great majority of juvenile citizens, who early go to work, the best they give is the ability to read." That our juvenile public are fast acquiring the reading habit is shown by the regular increase in circulation and registration among children. The number of juvenile books given out during the year is 13,238; the number of readers in the children's room, 5,261.

The agencies also come in for their share of attention. At both Gonic and East Rochester, the librarians in charge perform their duties faithfully and well, each of them being very ambitious for their special branch of the work, having many plans which they would like to carry out in the future. One thousand one hundred books have been sent to Gonic and their circulation numbers 3,697. East Rochester has had 768 of the Rochester books and given out 1,840.

In addition to the regular work of the year, information has been furnished on a great variety of subjects; personal attention given to the needs of patrons; help given in the choice of books for schools, for clubs, for general reading or for the home library; an annual inventory taken; a careful revision made of discarded and lost books, with the necessary comparisons; a card list made of all duplicate unbound magazines, that they may be ready for sale or exchange; indexes to shelf lists completed; subject cards rewritten for the card catalogue; a printed bulletin issued, giving book additions for 1912; and weekly notices prepared for the local papers. The plan of reserving books for the patrons leaving an addressed postal, attempted for the first time this year, has met with such unqualified approval that it has become a permanent rule.

One important feature of the year's work has been the opening of the museum, the Dr. Frisbie collection forming a splendid nucleus. In addition were the few valuable gifts and loans, which had been placed in the library from time to time, and noted in the annual reports. When the several collections were labeled and placed in the case provided, they made a good beginning, arousing much interest among the citizens, both young and old, and resulting in other additions, and promises for the future.

This was especially noticeable among the young people, gifts being brought in by Harold Copeland and Chester Horne, and loans from Richard Altheimer, Clyde Bassett, Roland Foss, Ralph Horne, Franklin McDuffee, Ruby Masury, Oscar Turmelle and Eben Wallace, as you will notice in the list of gifts.

In looking back over a year's work there are naturally many causes for regret; those errors of omission or commission, for which the library staff are to blame can be remedied in the future; those of the public are discouraging.

We sincerely regret—

That so large a part of the demands made upon the library are for the books of the day.

That there are so many unused books on the shelves; books which are considered "worth while."

That so few parents take any interest whatsoever in the reading of their children.

That the books are so often carelessly handled and abused.

That so many of our young people, depending on the library for reading and help in their studies, forget that there are certain obligations due from them. They should at least remember that courtesy and an observance of the rules of the library are required; that the entire attention of an attendant may not be necessary to keep them from disturbing adult readers.

It seems a "far cry" this bright December day, seated in an attractive and commodious library building, surrounded by a portion of the 16,000 volumes, to that bleak October morning, in 1893, when two young women unlocked the door into a room in Barker's Block, the home of the new library. The furniture consisted of one desk and a desk chair. On the floor, in huge piles were stacked 2,429 books, the gift of the stockholders of the Social Library Association. Books of every shape and size, varying in age from one to one hundred years, each in its brown paper cover. Out of this chaotic mass a public library was to be evolved.

Miss Hollingworth, the efficient cataloguer, chosen to organize the library and teach library methods, seemed undaunted by the work before her. The librarian approached her task with great fear and much trembling, yet willing to learn and to work, knowing that what others had done she could do.

The library was fortunate in having from the first on its Board of Trustees, progressive men, book men, men who knew what a public library should stand for in a community and who had the foresight to plan for the future.

The doors of the library were opened to the public, January 24, 1894, and the first books given out. Since that day, from its three different homes, it has given out 711,527 books, had 134,916 readers or students and added 14,467 books either by gift or purchase, at an average cost to the city for maintenance, purchase and distribution, of $2,080.50 yearly, or at a cost of output, with every other expense and privilege included, of less than 6 cents per volume.

Has it paid to have a public library? Have you ever considered what it must mean to the citizens of Rochester to have books for the asking? What a "world of books" it has opened up to young and old. How much of comfort, knowledge, inspiration and power has been received none can say, for as Doyle says, even "second-hand romance and second-hand emotions are surely better than the dull, soul-killing monotony which life brings to the human race." Is it a small thing to be gaining from others "guidance and strength in the living of our own strenuous lives?" Do we not consider that it has been worth the price paid in money, in thought, and in sacrifice?

I wish at this time to express my grateful thanks to all who have in any way contributed, by their words of appreciation or praise, by their gifts, by their co-operation or by their support, toward the work of the year.

Respectfully submitted,

LILLIAN E. PARSHLEY,
Librarian.

Of the three postgraduates who completed the year 1912-13 with us, Miss Laura Dennett entered Mount Holyoke, Miss Ruth Hussey entered Colby, and Miss Marion Stevens is on the waiting list of Mount Holyoke.

The total enrollment for the present year is 275, divided as follows: 1 postgraduate; 35 in the senior class; 68 in the junior class; 70 in the sophomore class; and 101 in the freshman class. Of this number but 12 have left, making the present membership 263.

During the year, twelve new desks have been installed in the Commercial room; two new typewriters have been purchased; a new radiator has been placed in the chemical laboratory, and very material progress has been made in providing an adequate supply of books. Indeed, such an advance along this last line has been made that we now have in use but one text that deserves condemnation, and plans are made to replace this, in part at least, during the coming year, as well as to continue to supply other existing deficiencies.

Our teaching force has met with two resignations during the year. Mr. Kerwin Reynolds of the Commercial department accepted an offer to go to Willimantic, Conn; and Miss Lucia Richardson, teacher of mathematics and history, left to assume work in Plymouth, Mass. Both were efficient and successful instructors and richly deserved the calls to greater service which they received. These places were filled by Mr. John E. Martin and Miss Helen C. Stetson, respectively. In addition to these changes one other teacher was added to the staff, Miss Nancie Foss being chosen as assistant in the Commercial work. This has partially relieved the Commercial department from the strain mentioned in last year's report and should enable that branch to do more efficient work than ever before. In this connection, I may say that for the last year, at least, we have had more calls for capable girls for office work than we have been able to fill. Our graduates are holding positions in the best offices in Rochester today, and those who graduate in the future ought to show better preparation than we have ever been able to give in the past.

The school assumed the responsibility for an entertainment course which ran through the winter of 1912-13. About eight dollars was netted; and this, together with twenty dollars obtained from the voting contest conducted by a local paper, was used in the purchase of more books for the morning chapel exercises. From the present course about seventy dollars will be cleared, and it is planned to purchase four new dictionaries and other necessary reference books.

Athletics have been placed in the hands of teacher managers with excellent results. Finances are in even better shape than last year; from an athletic viewpoint our teams have met with success, notably in winning the League Baseball Championship; and, of greater importance, a more healthy school spirit has been developed.

Early in 1913, at the request of the School Board, State Superintendent Morrison made an official inspection of the Rochester schools. His principal recommendations for the High School, i. e., a longer retention of competent department instructors and the revision of the curriculum with the introduction of more vocational training, have already been presented to the board. I would particularly emphasize the present lack of any instruction in drawing in the High School, as we have many pupils who have decided talent in that direction and who ought to be given an opportunity to make this ability of some real and lasting benefit to them. Aside from this, for the coming year, the greatest needs of this school will arise from the rapid growth in the numbers of our pupils. The total enrollment in December, 1910, was 200; in 1911, 213; in 1912, 228, as compared with this year's present membership of 263. In June, a class of not over thirty-five will graduate and perhaps thirty more will drop out of school between now and next September, though the experience of the last two years does not warrant the belief that such a number will be lost. The entering class will bring at least 110 new pupils to the school, making a net increase of forty-five at the most conservative estimate. We now have but seven vacant seats in the school to take care of this increase. One at least of the rooms now occupied by the grades will have to be turned over to the High School, and one additional teacher will be required. This teacher should be assigned to the English department which is, even under present conditions, greatly overloaded. As regards the expense of this undertaking, I would respectfully point out that the receipts from tuition for this year are practically $800 as against about $300 from this source in 1910, so that with nearly 40 per cent more pupils, we are carrying on the High School at but little greater net cost than was felt necessary four years ago.

Along this same line, while it is hardly in the province of a High School principal to make recommendations for the grades, it is proper to point out that the High School cannot maintain its standard unless its entering classes have received adequate preparation. Over-crowded conditions have hampered the grade teachers for the past year and the results have shown clearly in our work. This year, the conditions are even worse and the preparation must be even more deficient. This is, in no sense, a criticism of the grade teachers, who are known to be doing excellent work under great disadvantages; but no teacher can be expected to properly prepare fifty pupils for High School work. Such overloading injures our entire school system and should be remedied at once.

In conclusion, I wish to express my appreciation of the loyal, faithful and conscientious work of the department teachers; and also, to thank you, sir, and the board for the cordial and efficient support I have received.

Respectfully submitted,
GILMAN H. CAMPBELL,
Principal.

REPORT OF SUPERVISOR OF MUSIC

To the Superintendent of Schools:

SIR:—I have the honor to submit my report of the music in our schools.

The work started last year has gone on most successfully. The sight singing and average ability to read music has improved very much, and from tests given through the different grades I find that we are making very good use of the new material provided last year. In a few rooms at present the supplies are not large enough, and two of the grade teachers are working under very trying conditions. However, we are doing the very best we can, and are hoping by the first of the new year to get the necessary supplies.

The work in our High School must be spoken of very highly, a marked improvement over last year, and, judging from the work so far this year, we shall soon have a very fine High School chorus whose members will be able to give proofs of the interest they have taken in this part of their school work.

I take this opportunity to thank most heartily the superintendent and grade teachers whose good will and best efforts has made me feel that I am no longer a stranger among them. Their co-operation and the responsiveness of the children throughout the schools have made possible any success which our efforts have so far attained.

Respectfully,

MOLLY C. DONOHUE.

OBSERVATIONS OF THE SUPERINTENDENT

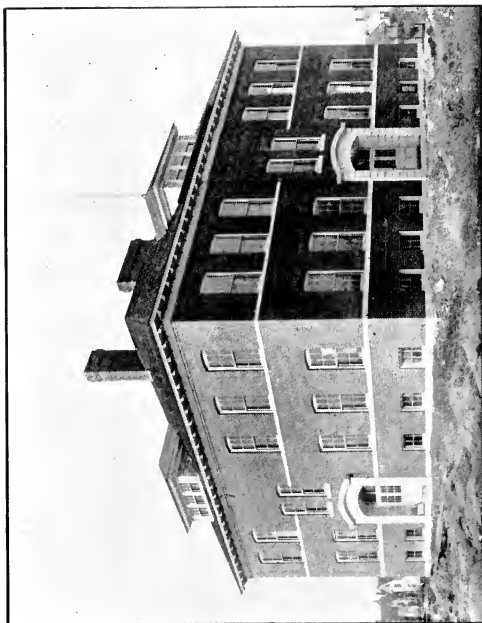

From what has been said by the Principal of the High School and by the Supervisor of Music, and from a personal knowledge of the work done as well, it is felt that some progress has been made and some results attained in some departments of work in the schools of the city during the year now closing, and it is believed that there has been something done in the other lines as well. But the discussion of the work done in the schools in particular is here deferred while some other matters are considered.

Schools are about the same from year to year and the main things that people wish to know about them are, therefore, much the same from year to year. It will, therefore, be necessary in what is here said to deal with many of the same topics that have been considered in previous reports with, however, a new one here and there taken up and discussed.

SCHOOL BUILDINGS

In the report of last year attention was called to the matter of improving the building and out-house at Meaderboro and that of giving better ventilation to the two rooms in the School Street building not designed especially as rooms for seating pupils.

Nothing during the year has been attempted along the lines of the suggested improvements, and in fact nothing could be for the financial situation would not warrant it. It is hoped, however, that in the near future the building at Meaderboro may be provided with all the conveniences possessed by the other school buildings of the city. At Meaderboro to my mind there is as fine an opportunity to establish a first-class country school as can be found anywhere. The location of the building is good, the number of pupils about right, and very many of the children in attendance come from families that are well to do. Here is a chance for Rochester to show to the state what a good country school should be.

At the School Street building the windows and transoms are still the only means of ventilating the two rooms not designed for the seating of pupils, but one of which is now used for such purpose. With the present arrangements a fair degree of air circulation can be maintained but some changes should be made as soon as financial conditions will permit, for the day is not far distant when we shall need to use both of these rooms, instead of one, as school rooms. It seems that a ventilating flue and also that an indirect heating flue could easily be installed that would overcome all objections to the use of the rooms in question as seating rooms.

Our school buildings are still furnishing ample accommodation for the schools as now organized.

In the fitting up of the School Street building and in making the needed additions to accommodate the annual increases in numbers, about all the old school furniture on hand has been used up so that if we must fit up any more rooms new furniture will have to be bought.

During the year twelve new desks have been put into the commercial room to take the place of the twelve old ones put into that room last year, so that now the commercial room is fully fitted with the proper seats.

The number of vacant rooms that may be used for school purposes is five, three at the Allen Building, one at School Street and one at East Rochester.

The number of buildings in use is seven, all in fairly good repair, but, as has been said, improvements could well be made at Meaderboro.

REPAIRS

During the year fewer repairs than usual have been made.

At Meaderboro the building and fence have been painted. At East Rochester a sewer has been constructed to take away the water falling from the roof of the building, and at the Allen Building the roof has been repaired. All the buildings were thoroughly cleaned during vacation and the basement of the Allen Building was well whitened and painted.

SCHOOLS

We still have but thirty-one schools in the city including the High School.

These schools are located about the same as last year yet one or two changes were thought advisable at the opening of the school year in September, and so were made. At the Allen Building the third grade was moved into the vacant room on the first floor; the fourth grade was moved to the third grade room, and the sixth grade given the fourth grade room. These changes seated the pupils of each grade much better than before and were effected by simply changing a few seats.

The schools have been made up during the year about as they were the year before, there being seven schools of double grade. In the Norway Plain section, or chief part of the city, all the schools above the fourth grade have been for the year fifty-pupil schools. This condition has of course considerably retarded the work in the grammar grades.

Something should be done during the coming year to relieve this congestion. If we should establish two new schools at the opening of the school year next September we could very readily overcome all difficulties. We much need a school of the fifth and sixth grades at the Allen Building and a straight seventh and a straight eighth grade at School Street, instead of the seventh and eighth grade school which we now have at this last mentioned building.

We should need extra money to the amount of eight hundred fifty or nine hundred dollars for the two schools proposed, and with these two schools we should be able to take care of the increase easily for several years to come.

If the High School continues to grow as it has in recent years, we must have, as the High School Principal has said in his report, more room for the High School, and an extra teacher therein.

The teachers have worked and are working well with their present accommodations, and the general feeling of the pupils toward their work is good.

I have not seen the interest of the pupils any better than at present.

TEACHERS

There have been rather more changes in the teaching force than usual during the year; those in the High School have been noted by the Principal of that school in his report, and so need not to be again mentioned just at this point.

In the grades we have lost Mrs. Hunt, Miss Armstrong, Miss Emery, Miss Mildred Allen, Miss Goodwin, Miss Plunkett, Miss Loomis and Miss Thorndike. On account of illness Mrs. Hunt gave up teaching in January, passing away not long after. Miss Armstrong resigned to become the head of a home. Miss Emery went away to take a position near her home. Miss Mildred Allen and Miss Thorndike each resigned to take a better place in Portland, Maine. Miss Goodwin accepted a more lucrative position in Rhode Island. Miss Plunkett was offered a place near her own home at Whitefield, and accepted it, and Miss Loomis changed from the Meaderboro School to one in another town in New Hampshire. The places of these teachers have been filled as follows: Miss Neal of Dover took the place in the second grade at School Street, vacated by Miss Emery. Miss Florence M. Osborne of our own city took the place of Miss Plunkett in the third grade at School Street; Miss Mildred Collins who, in the spring, took the place of Miss Armstrong was in the summer promoted to the fourth grade Allen, the place left by Miss Mildred Allen; Miss Lillian I. Dennett took up the third grade Allen, Miss Armstrong's old school; Miss Mahala M. Willey, who had formerly served us as a teacher at East Rochester, took up the work of Mrs. Hunt; Miss Libby of the fifth and sixth grades Gonic was given the place of Miss Goodwin at Gonic. The place in the fifth and sixth grades at Gonic made vacant by the promotion of Miss Libby was given to Miss Elna Mortenson of our own city, and the place of Miss Thorndike at East Rochester was taken by Miss Dora Morrill of Berwick, Maine.

All of these new teachers came to us well recommended and in most cases with some experience and all are doing their work well. As has been said by the High School Principal in his report two fine teachers, Mr. Reynolds and Miss Richardson, have been lost to the High School, but the positions left vacant by these teachers have been well filled and a new teacher in the Commercial department added, so that we still have a strong corps of teachers both in the High School and in the grades.

SALARIES

The salaries of our teachers are still low as compared to what is found in other places, but there is an improvement this year over that of last year in many cases.

We have paid about six hundred dollars more in salaries this year than last, and, in consequence, have retained some of our best teachers, yet we have lost several whom we could have kept if we could have paid what they were really worth to the city. We cannot, of course, expect to compete with other places of greater wealth and population in the matter of salaries. About all that municipalities like ours can do is to have as good schools as we can with the means at hand, and that is what all are trying to do.

CURRICULA AND LINES OF STUDY

We still have the same studies in the grades as last year and the same courses in the High School. As is well known, great stress is now being laid on courses of study in domestic science, in trade and industrial training, and in agriculture. Up to the present time we have adopted none of these courses and thus far we have not had the means for so doing. In consequence of our not having any of the courses mentioned, our schools have been subject to some criticism and have been called old fashioned and useless to many children.

At present our High School is represented in the colleges of the country by nineteen young men and women, and it is further represented in the field of higher education by one who is on the waiting list of Mount Holyoke, and by several who have been in college for a time but who are now out earning money with which to continue their college courses. These young men and women are found at Dartmouth, New Hampshire State, Mt. Holyoke, Cornell, Boston University, Simmons, Bates, Colby, University of Maine, and Worcester Polytechnic Institute, all, schools of high standing. These students certainly must have had some fairly good training beforehand or they would not now be where they are. Besides this group of young men and women found at the colleges and some others now at the normal schools, there are many boys and girls who have been educated in the schools of our city who are filling positions in the offices of professional or business men, or are to be found in the rooms of our industrial establishments as work hands, and all are doing well.

I am aware that there are those who do not measure the efficiency of a school, or a school system, by the number and quality of its men and women in the colleges, and I am aware that at the present, and for some years past, there has been some criticism as to the education that colleges give, and some question as to the abilities of college graduates in general, but with the view that college educated people are as a rule weaklings few thinking men can agree. In the minds of most people college men and women are fully as successful as those of any other class and in most cases more so. Attention is here called to the college-bred persons of our own city. What ones have been failures? Scarcely one.

From all this it would seem then that those educated in the schools of our city succeed in holding their own with pupils educated elsewhere, and in getting on in the world, notwithstanding the lack in their training of some of the methods and courses of the new education. And right here as well as anywhere possibly a word may be said concerning the old and the new in education with some advantage to us all.

To the student of the problem of child education and training, and to the observer of the discussions now going on with reference to the same, it appears that many people, among whom may be found some writers themselves upon educational matters, have no clear idea as to what was the character of the education of our fathers and mothers as the boys and girls of years ago, or what goes to make up that of the child of the present day; nor are they clear as to the means employed in giving instruction in the past or at the present; nor do they appear to be familiar with the methods of the instructor then and the instructor now. What then is meant by the education of the fathers or that of the three R's as it is often called, and what by that measured out by the modern educator to the children of today? The distinguishing feature of the education of the past seems to be that stress was laid on the matter of definition and the development of a strong and clear sense of things rather than upon the application of such knowledge as was gained to the affairs of life. For example, in dealing with arithmetic the gaining of a thorough knowledge of number and the processes employed in the solution of problems of one kind and another was emphasized rather than the application of number to any matter or business in particular, though through the illustrative problems used many applications were well and clearly made. So also in the study of grammar the gaining of a complete knowledge of the parts of speech and of the sentence by careful analysis was counted of more consequence than the application of such knowledge as had been gained of these matters in speaking and writing our language from day to day.

Another matter that deeply impressed itself upon the education of by-gone days was the feeling that certain subjects now largely given up were of much more value than others in disciplining the child mind. In accordance with this feeling the Greek and Latin languages were looked upon as superior to the modern tongues for educational purposes and there was a call for a critical study and a thorough drill in them, the systematized facts of these languages, their sentence structure and their words serving as root words of our English being counted as of more importance then the literature of these languages and the much reading of the same. As it was with the ancient languages so it was with several other subjects.

In considering the number of subjects taken up in the educating of a child heretofore, it may be said that this was somewhat limited yet it was larger than many may think. There were reading, writing, spelling, grammar and geography for the elementary schools, while in the secondary one might take up higher arithmetic, algebra, geometry, trigonometry, physics, chemistry, something of geology, astronomy, botany, Greek, Latin, some French or German, history, bookkeeping, and possibly one or two other subjects. This was, of course, a limited list and unattractive as compared with the subjects now thought to be essential. All things considered in short, then, it may be said that the education of the fathers was planned for and worked out as something systematized, definitive, and basal—something from which one might and did advance steadily and safely in whatever line of work he might take up after leaving school.

So much for the education of the days that are gone. What now of the education of the moderns? In general it may be said that the education of the child as planned today includes not only a study of the subjects mentioned as taken up by children in the past but also many more with much application of the principles learned as the training of the child is carried forward to completion. For example in studying language and grammar much more attention is given to composition work than before, and in connection with this work much more is done in the reading of the English classics. So also in dealing with the sciences many practical applications are made, all of which seem to be a gain over the old results accomplished.

A list of the subjects now thought necessary to be considered in effecting the education of a child may here be of interest. In addition to the subjects mentioned as taken up in the past we now have in the elementary schools, nature study, history, civics, hygiene, cooking, sewing, singing, drawing, and some other things; while in the department of secondary training there are in addition to the old subjects Spanish, Italian, business arithmetic, stenography, typewriting, business law, salesmanship, journalism, carpentry, blacksmithry, lathe work, printing, agronomy, seeding, tree-pruning, corn-judging, cooking, sewing, sex-hygiene, and so the list might go on almost indefinitely. It is, of course, not for a moment supposed that any one person masters this entire list, but out of it, however, come the lists of subjects, enlarged beyond the old, which each one must study in order to be considered properly educated on coming to maturity. To sum up then the idea in modern education seems to be that a child on completing his schooling shall not only be well grounded in the fundamentals but that he also shall have acquired a great deal that the pupil of the old days might come to know after his days of training and discipline were over.

In addition to the whole matter of what constituted the education of a person years ago and what goes to make it up now there remains to be considered the means and the methods by which the education of a child was once, and is now, obtained or effected.

The means by which the education of children was brought about in the olden time were, of course, chiefly the public and private schools of the period, about all of which were of the same character. These schools were located in schoolhouses having few or no conveniences and many of them gave instruction in both primary and secondary subjects. The text-books and supplies were at the expense of the pupils. These schools were fitted with little or no apparatus for demonstration or practical work, and possessed few if any reference books. They were usually in charge of one or two teachers who carried along all the subjects taught. Such were the chief means of working out the education of the children of years ago.

At the present time much of all this has been changed and these seemingly inadequate means have been greatly increased. Instead of the schools mentioned we now have the graded public and private schools, both elementary and secondary, of about all kinds to meet the needs of all classes of pupils. There are the regular day schools, the evening schools, the part-time schools, the continuation schools, the open air schools, the business schools, the agricultural schools, the trade schools, the schools of commerce, and so we might go on, all located in fine school buildings with their school year extended to thirty-six weeks or more, with free text-books and supplies, with reference books, laboratories and plenty of other helpful material in teaching at hand, with pupils well graded, and with many teachers each handling his own subjects. Then, in addition, there are the libraries and, lastly, practically free food and free clothing for the poor. These are the things that go to make up the means with which the education of the children of today is undertaken.

Just as there is a difference between the means employed in the days of our fathers and those of the present, so there is a difference between the methods used in the past and those in vogue now. In reading, the pupil of years ago prepared his lesson beforehand, and then read it through in the class. The spelling lesson was studied from the spelling book and then spelled orally or by writing at the pronunciation by the master. In arithmetic and other studies the pupil was required to concentrate his attention upon the lesson in the text-book and apply what knowledge he had thus far gained to the "getting" of the lesson as it was called, the teacher giving such assistance as seemed necessary to keep up the interest of the pupil in what he was doing. Then came the recitation with the directions, suggestions and criticisms of the teacher.

In carrying forward the education of the child of today many changes from what once was have taken place. In reading the child, aided by perception drills, reads largely at sight, in accordance with some method or system as the word or sentence method or the Aldine or Ward system, in spelling, the lesson is studied briefly or glanced at, as it appears on the blackboard, and then either written out or spelled orally; in number work the old tables of addition, subtraction, multiplication and division, as once taught, have disappeared and the old-fashioned, carefully proportioned and accurately written arithmetic is no longer followed thoroughly and systematically as it was, the place of the tables having been taken by a drill on the four fundamental principles, all in the same lesson, and the place of the assigned lesson in the arithmetic having been supplied by the prepared list of problems on the blackboard, taken from half a dozen different books by the teacher; in English grammar the declensions and conjugations having been given up, each sentence form is studied largely by itself, little attention being given to the correlation of one form with another; in the languages, about the same thing has taken place as in English grammar; and so change after change may be mentioned; all of which have been made in accordance with the recommendations of those who have made a deep study of the action of the human mind and are counted leaders in educational matters.

Comparing then what there was in the old education with what enters into and makes up the new as to substance, means and methods it seems that the new is the better of the two. It certainly ought to be so, and it really is so, provided that there is no over-loading anywhere or lack of adjustment anywhere of the parts that go to make it up, and provided further that in following out the new ideas nothing is neglected that should be well and faithfully done. But if in making applications of number there is a failure to fully develop number sense; if in writing something there is a failure to teach the grammar of the language so thoroughly that one can correct his own writing; if in the attempt to cover a long list of subjects a pupil can get but a limited knowledge of each one; if the committee of ten or that of fifteen has made any mistake as to what should be recommended; if the psychologists have erred as to what is the best method of presenting a subject to the child mind; if some of the many other things that may happen do happen then the new is not much better than the old, after all.

At the present time there is a call to come back to a more limited curriculum and to teach some of the essential things more thoroughly. Many of our eminent men and women are at present saying that we are coddling our children and that we are dealing very superficially with a wide range of studies that reads well on paper but that, when tried out, is found to be of little value. From the standpoint of some of the critics of our present day education, this education is scrappy, its parts not being closely related to one another and so not giving one a sufficient knowledge of the relation of things. It is further claimed by these that it throws too great a burden upon the teacher in that it requires the teacher to draw up the lessons of the day, place them before the pupils and thoroughly outline and designate with reference to them in addition to the teaching required. With these people the question arises, Can a teacher of long service, even in connection with all the teaching required, plan and teach a course in arithmetic or any other subject as well and as thoroughly as did the teacher of the past who took his text-book, carefully prepared by someone of ample knowledge and experience, working in the quiet of his study, and taught it through thoroughly from cover to cover? By which plan, say these who criticise, is something most likely to be slighted or left out.

There is a complaint also that the expense of modern education is growing to be so large that it will soon be beyond the abilities of most towns and cities to bear, many of the newer courses in the schools costing now two or three times what some of the old ones did. It is further the belief of many that when about all of the subjects one needs to know about are taught in the schools, and when nearly all the responsibilities in the bringing up of children are thrown upon them rather than divided between the home and the schools, then the schools become a menace to the home in that they weaken the ties that should bind the child to his parents and their interests—a thing that certainly should not be. More than all this there is a charge that the schools, on account of some of their methods and teachings, are directly responsible for some of the sauciness and hoodlumism complained of in the young people of the present day. Finally, there is the widespread belief that five hours a day for one hundred and seventy-five or eighty days in the year is not a sufficient amount of time in which to give children their full education and training in the many things proposed. All of this seems to indicate that there is some dissatisfaction with some of the present ways of doing things and that we have not yet quite reached just what is desired in the lines of education.

There is no claim that the education of the fathers was perfect; it had its faults, its chief ones being the lack of sufficient composition work in English and the lack of a certain amount of practical work in the sciences. Some of the faults of the education of the present seem to be just the reverse of those mentioned in the old. It would seem then that these might easily be corrected. Since there is some complaint then as to what the schools should do for the children it will be well to think deeply and observe carefully before adding to or taking away any thing in our present courses.

GRADING

The matter of grading pupils is one of the difficult things with which we have to deal. It is, of course, important that each child be advanced if it is possible to do so, and yet care must be taken that no one be sent forward when it is practically certain that he cannot do the work with which he will come in contact later on. With ample opportunity in the rooms for seating, and with small schools, the matter of properly placing the pupils is much easier to handle than when all rooms are full and pupils must be sent here and there for seats. With our full schools the grading cannot, at all times, be exactly what it should be, but there is nothing haphazard about it. The pupils, in most cases, are put exactly where they belong; in the others they are put as nearly where they belong as possible and that seems to be about the best that can be done. We are no worse off in the matter of grading than a great many other places and we are succeeding in giving each pupil his due in a practical way if not in the ideal way very well.

MUSIC

The music in the schools, under the direction of Miss Donohoe, has gone along finely during the year yet with a better outfit much better results are sure to be secured. It is believed that the music in the Rochester schools compares very favorably with that in schools elsewhere.

Miss Donohoe has been considerably handicapped by the lack of books, charts, etc., since the department of music, along with some other departments, has not yet been fully refitted. With a part of the appropriation for next year more books and charts will be added, and in time it is hoped that all things needed in giving the training in music may be at hand. The patience and perseverance of our music teacher during the period of change and readjustment is worthy of commendation.

THE SPRINGFIELD SCHOLARSHIP.

On the third day of last September Mr. J. Frank Springfield and family, in honor and remembrance of the deceased wife of Mr. Springfield and the mother of the family, established a scholarship at the High School to be known as the Mary Emily Springfield Scholarship. By the terms of the gift of said scholarship the annual income of the same, amounting to $100, is to be given to any girl graduate of the Rochester High School who has pursued a full four-year course of study, the award to be made to said graduate during her first year of college work. The conditions of the gift make the chairman of the School Board, the Principal of the High School, and the Superintendent of Schools a committee to make the award. The gift comes from one of the oldest and most respected families of Rochester and will perpetuate the name and work of one who, before her marriage, served the city faithfully as a teacher for about six years, and who, by her kindly spirit and high scholarship, was always a credit to our High School. That the gift is deeply appreciated by the pupils of the High School and by all citizens of the city it is not necessary here to state.

FINANCE

As in previous years so during the one about to close economy has been the watch word in the administration of the educational affairs of the city. For the year nineteen hundred and thirteen, the schools of Rochester have been carried on at a cost of thirty-three thousand five hundred and forty dollars and ninety-seven cents. This amount shows a small increase over what was expended during the previous year, the exact increase being three hundred and seventy-eight dollars and twenty-seven cents.

Thirty-three thousand five hundred and forty dollars certainly seems to be a goodly sum for a city of the size of Rochester to expend for educational purposes. And so it is, yet it is pleasing to note that it is still some less than one third of the total revenues of the municipality.

If we take the amount given above as the cost of the schools for the year and divide it by the number 1,282 which represents very nearly the average number of pupils belonging in the schools for the year, we have the average cost of schooling a child in our schools for the year. This cost when figured is found to be twenty-six dollars and seventeen cents. A comparison of this amount with the results found for other cities reveals the fact that the cost per pupil in the schools of Rochester is considerably less than it is in the schools of about every city about us.

During the past few years the expenses of our schools have increased considerably. This increase has been due to several things, the most important of these being the new school building at School Street, the compulsory education law, the child labor law, and the increased number of graduates from the grammar schools who have gone forward to the High School.

If the state continues to legislate more and more of the population into the schools from year to year, or if in addition to the subjects now taught other courses in Domestic Science, Agriculture, and the trades are introduced, or if more and more pupils enter the classes of the High School from year to year, then we may expect school expenses to grow considerably yearly for some time to come.

At the present time it appears that the age limit at which a child may leave school has become fairly well established and that the effects of the child labor law on increased attendance are now found at their full. It also appears that we are not likely to greatly increase our courses of study right away, and further, that the proportionate number of the graduates of our grammar schools going on to the High School has been reached, since about all pupils who now complete the work of the grades go on to the High School. Such being the case, it is felt that some of the chief causes for a large annual increase in school expenses are likely to disappear in the near future, and that from that time on for some years, with buildings in good repair and with a conservative administration of affairs, the schools of the city may run with but little extra cost from year to year. Such an outcome would, of course, be very gratifying to us all.

CLASS ODE

CLIFTON HENRY DUSTIN

Classmates, four bright years we've passed
Together here, in work and play;
And now, with hopes in part fulfilled,
Our farewells we must say.
Many a failure we've o'erthrown,
Thus victory crowns each one;
And the laurels for our days of toil
Has been the praise, "well done."

Teachers, always thoughtful, ever just,
Ever spurred us on our way.
Thanks to them for precepts useful,
For life's maxims taught each day.
We have reaped from passing hours
Truths that memory ever hoards
To frame a standard high and true
On life's ascending road.

Today we meet as oft before
With teachers, classmates, friends,
And, as we part upon life's way,
Pleasure bright with grief now blends.
Oh, may we, as we forward go
Be true to lessons gained,
And see the clear though distant goal,
"Success by toil obtained."

Respectfully submitted,
